Explanatory Note

(This is not a part of the rules but is intended to indicate their general purpose).

The Department of State Lotteries came into existence on 1-9-1967. The staff of the Department now consists of persons drafted from various other departments of Government and those appointed directly on the advice of the Public Service Commission according to exigencies of service. Neither the Special Rules for the Department nor the principles for governing the relative seniority of the persons drafted from different departments have been framed so far. In the absence of these, it has not been possible to draw out a gradation list of the staff of the department. This has caused considerable difficulties in effecting promotions in the department. It is therefore necessary to issue the Special Rules and principles for determining the relative seniority of the existing personnel of the department.

The above rules are intended to achieve this object.
